Customer Quote/Comments:

"SMS paging and paging over the internet are a great supplement to conventional two-tone paging systems. I don't think that two-tone paging is going away anytime soon, but it's always great to have more than one way to do something when providing emergency services."

"The support is excellent. It means a lot to know that someone is there to answer any questions and help us troubleshoot any issues that we have with a critical system. Our experience with NotePage support has been excellent all around."
