Business / Organization Description:

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is the element of the U.S. government with primary responsibility for the safety of civil aviation. The FAA was originally designated the Federal Aviation Agency when established by the Federal Aviation Act of 1958. The present name was adopted in 1967 when the FAA became a component of the Department of Transportation.

How is PageGate Used/Customer Quote:

"Our employees are responsible for many different communication, navigation and radar facilities in north Louisiana. They work on their own schedule and don't have cell phones. It is so fast and easy to send a message using PageGate to the specialist out in the field. Usually they don't even have to find a phone because it is information. When and urgent response is needed the message tells them what is expected. NotePage is working great for the Shreveport/Monroe System Support Center."
